What is a strategy:

Crafting a robust business strategy is a complex task that often goes beyond a simple checklist of goals. It requires a comprehensive approach, time, and a deep understanding of both internal and external qualitative and quantitative data.

Why your business needs a strategy:

A well-defined strategy not only provides your business with a roadmap for sustained success but also acts as a beacon of hope, guiding you through the turbulence of an unpredictable and ever-changing market landscape. This framework fosters cohesion among individual departments, aligning them toward a common goal.

Recognising the value of investing in a well-crafted strategy is not just about ticking boxes; it's about steering your business toward sustainable growth and resilience in an ever-evolving marketplace.

In this talk, 'Build a strategy for success—the right way,' they discuss the steps to construct a winning strategy, the pitfalls, areas of focus and what to avoid.

What they will cover:

Strategy powerhouse Cassidy Mason from Cassidy Mason Consulting and marketing expert Jo Buchanan from TwitTwoYou will present the one-hour talk.

Cassidy will discuss the right way to curate a business-wide strategy, including the importance of considering your people in the process and rollout.

Jo will then explain the key considerations when building a successful marketing strategy. She'll discuss the key elements to include and where you should place your focus.

Who's it aimed at:

This talk is aimed at senior leaders from all industries, including CEOs, CFOs, COOs, CPOs, Directors, and anyone actively involved in creating their company's strategy.

Talk format:

The talk will last for 40 minutes and will include a 20-minute Q&A.
